

Are you an experienced veterinary technician looking to work in a challenging, rewarding, and inspiring institution? San Antonio Zoo is looking for a qualified veterinary technician to join our herd of veterinary professionals dedicated to serving our diverse exotic animal residents. Your knowledge and skill set in all aspects of veterinary technology will be utilized to provide outstanding healthcare including, but not limited to, direct involvement with routine and emergency animal immobilizations, examinations, and collection of diagnostic samples. Your clinical pathology skills and pharmacology skills will be harnessed in our latest laboratory and pharmacy room additions to process diagnostic samples and carry out animal treatment plans for direct impact on animal health care. Your charisma and enthusiasm will also be showcased through participation in the guest experience via educational, media, and conservation programs.

Does becoming part of a unique veterinary team who collaborate on the daily to implement quality animal care seem like a fit for you? If so, further details about the position can be found at <https://sazoo.applicantpro.com/jobs/>
